The fire department won.

But the band was a close second.

The contest seemed to wane in interest rather than grow in interest toward the close.

Next Monday the Territorial fair will begin in Albuquerque. Roswell will be well represented there.

Every day brings some word from the surveyors who are rapidly nearing Roswell. They will be here before many days.

The good weather of October is still with us. If a sample of this could have been sent along with the Roswell car, it would have been one of our best exhibits.

So Judge Pope is to be the new judge if rumor is correct. And Judge Pope is a gold Democrat. The Record believes in Republicans appointing Republicans and Democrats appointing Democrats.

Hot Air.

Since the issue of the Black-don Townsite company prospectus the real estate men of Roswell admit that they are not in it when it comes to the gift of prophecy. Here is an extract:—

"There will be a population of ten thousand, the city will contain 2,560 acres or 20,480 lots and ten parks and ten commons with 120 miles of streets, surrounded by an eight mile boulevard, and after it is thoroughly peopled there will be ten banks, ten bakeries, ten book-stores, ten newspapers, 100 printers, 25 lumber yards, 250 carpenters, 500 cooks, 100 teamsters, 4,000 school children, 200 teachers, 4,000 church members, 100 preachers, 100 churches, 10 drug stores, 100 physicians, 100 lawyers, 500 real estate men, 8 harness shops, 15 livery stables, 25 blacksmith shops, twenty hotels and cafes, 5 laundries, 20 barber shops, 250 grocery shops 100 dry goods stores, 20 hardware stores, 2,000 clerks, 20 architects, 20 contractors, 10 policemen, 200 stenographers, 20 undertakers, 25 plumbers, and many other business opportunities. With 100,000 acres in orchards and the same in alfalfa and 30,000 in cantaloupes and the same acreage in tomatoes and other vegetables to back the city, it will have a growth as stable as any in the world."

Such is the city that is to arise as if by magic in the Pecos Valley during the next few months.

The Roswell Negro.

W. F. Pafford says he has all he wants of Roswell. While attending the fair there last week he dropped in on a church festival, thinking he would help along a good cause. About the first thing he ran up against was a sable son of Africa eating with the whites. This was more than Mr. Pafford could stand and he left, quietly informing the management that he did not go to Roswell to rob Roosevelt of his honors.—Claude News.

The above item which is going the rounds of the press does Roswell a gross injustice. In the first place there are but very few negroes in Roswell, and those who are here keep their places. There is just as little so called "negro equality" in Roswell as you can find in any town of the south. Mr. Pafford in the above incident may have mistaken some weary Caucasian fair visitor covered with Pecos Valley dust for a son of Ham. Or he may have taken the ham he was eating as the insignia of birth. At any rate there is no mixing of races here.

There is, too, a future town of Blackdom which is being extensively advertised and the proposal is to build it somewhere in the Pecos Valley. If built all the inhabitants of this proposed town will have to be imported as at present there are not enough negroes in the Valley even to make a start. The town at present merely exists on paper. The pamphlet says that the Republican administration at Santa Fe is backing the enterprise. If so, it only shows that the rich resources of the Pecos Valley are attracting the attention of all people regardless of race, color, politics, or previous condition of servitude.

J. Mac Smith, H. S. Logan, J. R. Blair and Miss Ada White were up from Artesia yesterday.

BURGULARIOUS STARS.

Planets and Stars May Pick Up Minor Solar Bodies.

Jupiter is much the biggest member of the family of stars which revolve around our sun; consequently the power of his attraction is greater than that possessed, for instance, by the earth. Jupiter's exploits as a burglar have caused very considerable annoyance and inconvenience to astronomers in the days before his powers were fully recognized.

In 1770 there appeared a fine comet, which was found to have an elliptical orbit round the sun of so comparatively small a size that Mr. Lexell, its discoverer, calculated it would return in five and a half years, but in 1775 telescopes were vainly focused on the spot where it was expected to reappear, and again in 1781 it disappointed all observers. Mr. Lexell plunged into fresh calculations and after much research found that Jupiter was the culprit. The unfortunate comet had been rash enough to plunge into the sphere of the giant planet's attraction, with the result that it had been completely diverted from its former orbit and flung off into quite a different one of a twenty year period. It has never been seen again by any one on this earth and probably never will be.

Jupiter was also responsible for the delay which occurred in the return of that splendid visitant known as Halley's comet. Halley found that he was not the first discoverer of this big comet. It had appeared at least twice previously, once seventy-five years before and again seventy-six years before that. The astronomer concluded that there would be a further delay in its third return and predicted that its next appearance would be 518 days later. He did not live to see it. But in 1758, the year he had prophesied for its reappearance, astronomers were waiting for it.

HUMORS OF MUSICAL LIFE.

Amusing Pranks the Erratic Types Played With a Composer.

Miss Maude Valerie White, author of numerous popular songs, has told a number of anecdotes, many of them at her own expense. I suppose, she once wrote in the Cornhill Magazine, all composers have had a laugh over the extraordinary mistakes which sometimes occur in the first proofs of their songs. I remember years ago writing a very sentimental song, in which the line occurred—

I've never once regretted the vow I made that day.

My feelings may be imagined when I found they had printed—

I've never once regretted the row I made that day.

Miss White also told about an amusing mistake which occurred in the programme of one of her concerts: A well known singer and very good friend of mine was down to sing my two songs, "To Marry" and "Crabbed Age and Youth." But the newspaper announced something very different. Not content with drawing up a programme of my concert, it drew up a programme of my future, for I read as follows:

Mr. Blank
To Marry
Crabbed Age and Youth.

As I am a good many years older than the friend in question, the coincidence struck me as particularly funny, and I cut the programme out of the newspaper and sent it to him. By the first mail next morning I received an identical cutting from him, with an inquiry whether he was to take this as a formal announcement of our engagement and expressing a mild surprise that he had not been consulted in the matter.

He Knew Sir Walter Scott.

In a booklet called "Sir Walter Scott and His Country" published in Edinburgh the author quotes this reminiscence from an old man he met who had known the romancer:

"Aye," he minded Sir Walter fine. "I seen him driving out in his carriage and pair, wi' Tom Purdie on the box seat. He had on a shepherd's tartan plaid and a glengarry cap wi' two black ribbons hanging doon the back. I mind his dowie tae—Maida, he ca'd it—and an awfu' work he made ower the beast. But he was as pleasant a man as you could speak to, though he wasna thought muckle of as a pleader when they made him shirra o' Selkirk. Is it his buiks you're speiring on? Ou, aye, ye'll find a' his buiks ben the hoose."

Carved on the Tomb of Ingalls.

This extract from Ingalls' essay on "Grass" is carved on the glacial boulder which marks his last resting place: "When the fitful fever is ended and the foolish wrangle of the market and forum is closed grass heals over the scars which our descent into the bosom of the earth has made, and the carpet of the infant becomes the blanket of the dead."—Kansas City Star.

Cash Before Fame.

"Why don't you try to write your name on the scroll of fame?" "My friend," said Senator Sorghum very earnestly, "I have never yet seen anybody tearing leaflets out of the scroll of fame and getting them cashed at the bank."—Philadelphia Inquirer.
